

The Economy....

Bernie Madoff "Investments" or the Social Security "Trust Fund" - Which is the bigger Ponzi scheme?

The above is one of those questions you think has to be a "trick question". The answer is seemingly too obvious.

Here is another one: Congress (which I often refer to as Dis-organized Crime) or the "Mafia" (sometimes called Organized Crime): Who "taxes" its constituents less and runs the most efficient organization? Again, too obvious?

One more. What is the difference between a government tax and a government fee? This one is really a bit of a trick question. The answer is the difference in spelling. Not like asking what is the difference between a pile of manure and a bag of manure where there is a real difference. The bag.

A final one. What is the difference between what we are told by congress and a bag of manure? You got it!
