Will Nancy Pelosi impeach Joe Biden? An interesting question.

If she does not, she is a hypocrite. When Donald Trump was president she had him impeached twice. Both times on a party line vote and on "Trumped up" (forgive the pun) charges using her stooges, the morally and ethically bankrupt Congressmen Adam Schiff and Jerry Nadler. The charge... a "sort of", "maybe implied", "cross your fingers" threat to a foreign leader of a "delay" in U.S. Federal Aid. A claim denied by the foreign leader.

Now we have President Joe Biden who took an oath of office to uphold the United States Constitution and Laws Of the United States who is in public and blatant violation of the Constitution and Supreme Court decisions on multiple occasions in addition to a factual lie to the American people, to wit: "We won't leave Afghanistan until every American is evacuated".

For this writing we won't even consider his incompetence as Commander in Chief during the Afghanistan withdrawal debacle.

But, back to the Supreme Court and the Constitution.

1. He "thumbed his nose" at the Supreme Court when it declared that potential immigrants must be held on the other side of the United States Southern Border until properly processed for entry. A ruling that President Biden has chosen to ignore and continues to not only allow mass crossings of the border but also provide those who come across with free transportation to cities throughout the United States where they are "dumped" on the local government to deal with. Or, perhaps he believes he is planting the seeds for a future harvest of votes.

2. In violation of the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution his administration continues to prohibit landlords the ability to evict tenants who do not pay their rent. Such action requires action of Congress but he continues this with an edict from the unelected head of the CDC (Center for Disease Control) who reports to him.

3. His continual threat to compromise the Second Amendment by Executive Order to find a way to confiscate the civilian version, not fully automatic AR-15 rifle from taxpaying American citizens. One can only guess if it is his intent to make a gift of those confiscated rifles to our new "International Partners", the Taliban to add to their stockpile of more than 300,000 that were left behind in our withdrawal from Afghanistan.

I could list additional ways in which he has violated his oath of office but no need. The above is certainly enough for House Speaker Pelosi to bring impeachment charges on.

There might be a very small resistance to such an Impeachment charge by some citizens that her move could be viewed as self serving because as Speaker of the House of Representatives, a successful Impeachment and removal from office of the President would move Ms. Pelosi one step closer to the Presidency herself. The Speaker of the House of Representatives is second in line of succession for the Presidency under our constitution.

Of course there would still be a need to deal with the nearly invisible Vice President Kamala Harris who would be sworn in to replace the President if/when he is removed from office. However, since the current Vice President is very unpopular even within her own party - she got only 7% of the vote from her home state during the primaries - it should be relatively simple to have her "pushed aside" with help from the 25th Amendment to the Constitution and perhaps a "nudge" from the "Friends of Bill & Hill" faction.

Or, Speaker Pelosi might choose not to impeach the current president and just be satisfied with being recognized for the hypocrite that she is.

Whatever her decision, she needs to act before the 2022 mid-term elections where it is just barely possible, even with a "tainted" election process, that her party might lose the House of Representatives and her "golden opportunity" will have melted away.

Decisions, Decisions.
