

WOLFS LAIR

I WATCHED A DOCUMENTARY ABOUT THE "WOLF'S LAIR" WHICH WAS THE COMMAND POST OF ADOLF HITLER DURING PART OF WORLD WAR II.

The Germans went to great lengths to camouflage it from arial attack. After the Allies successfully attacked Germany's heavily fortified submarine pens with advanced bombs the Germans added further fortifications to the Wolf's Lair in order to protect Adolf Hitler.

The Germans did not know that by 1943 General Eisenhower and the Allied Command knew not only the exact location of the Wolf's Lair and its fortifications but had advanced heavy ordinance (bombs) with which to destroy it and likely kill Adolf Hitler in the process.

General Eisenhower, in conjunction with Allied Command, made the decision that it was better not to kill Adolf Hitler because Hitler's lack of ability to make good tactical decisions was hurting the German Army's ability to defend against the Allies war effort.

Hmmmm. I wonder if America's enemies might be thinking that they don't need to attack us because this bunch we have elected to govern us is doing a better job of destroying our economy and power than they could by attacking us themselves?

Just a thought.....
